

Mercè Romero

Universitat de Barcelona

The role of invariant manifolds in galactic dynamics

In this talk we will show how invariant manifolds are applied in galactic dynamics, specifically the role they play on the galaxy morphology. Galaxies are not homogeneous distributions of stars and gas, but they present different substructures like bars, spiral arms or rings. They are not even flat distributions. We link these structures and shapes with mathematical invariant objects.